REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR CARPENTIER

KNOCKS OUT LEVINSKY IN FOURTH ROUND.

New York, October 13.
A twelve-round boxing match between Carpentier and the American, "Batting" Levinsky, who is considered one of America's finest fighters, took place in Jersey City to-night in the presence of a huge audience.
The match resulted in Carpentier knocking out Levinsky in the fourth round. The Frenchman now hopes to meet Dempsey for the World's Championship.

THE TURF.

RESULT OF CANTERBURY STAKES.

London, October 13.
The Canterbury Stakes resulted as follows:
Bracket 1.
Front Line 2.
Greek Scholar 3.
Thirty-two ran; won by two lengths; three lengths between second and third.

GREAT RACE IN CANADA.

Windsor, (Ontario), October 13.
A great horse-racing match for £15,000 and a £1,000 cup between the United States crack horse Man of War and the Canadian-owned Sir Barton was witnessed by huge crowds. The race was over a distance of a mile and a quarter. Sir Barton, who was under weight for age, carried six pounds extra. Man of War won by eight lengths in 2 min. 3 sec.

AEROPLANE OF THE FUTURE

SOME NEW DEVELOPMENTS.

London, October 13.
At the Air Conference today, Air Marshal Sir Edward L. Ellington gave an interesting forecast of the aeroplane of the future. He announced that the Air Ministry was developing two new engines. The first was a "wash plate engine" in which was an inclined disc on a shaft which replaced the ordinary crank. The second was a steam turbine, which it was to be able to fulfil all required conditions and greatly increase cylindrical power, besides being silent. It would also reduce the physical effort required by the pilot. Another at present in the design stage provided engines in the fuselage driving propellers in the wings, relieving the pilot of control of the engine, the latter signalling his order to the engine-room, as on a ship.

IRELAND AND THE GOVERNMENT.

DECLARATION BY SIR HAMAR GREENWOOD.

London, October 13.
Sir Hamar Greenwood, in a speech at Belfast this afternoon, said that Lord French, Sir Neville McCreedy and himself were in complete accord and none of them was resigning.
The Government was proceeding with the Home Rule Bill and were prepared to enlarge it most generously in order to secure a complete and final settlement of the Irish question, but it could not tolerate the independence of Ireland or a part of Ireland. They believed that the Imperial strategic unity of Ireland was fundamental for the peace of the United Kingdom and the well-being of the Empire and would not budge on its fundamental verities.

WRANGLER PUSHES ON.

MUNITION FACTORY BLOWN UP.

London, October 13.
A wireless message from Wrangel's headquarters chronicles the continuance of successful operations, particularly in the Alexandrovsk district, where the Dniester has been forced. Three regiments captured a Red munition factory containing 50,000 shells, which was blown up.

DEATH OF A FAMOUS EVANGELIST.

London, October 13.
The well-known evangelist Dr. Charles McCallon Alexander has passed away.
Dr. Alexander, who was born in the U.S.A. just 53 years ago, made an evangelistic tour of the world in conjunction with the Rev. R. A. Torrey, the undertaking lasting from 1902 till 1906. For two months he conducted daily at the Royal Albert Hall, London, the largest evangelistic choir (4,000) ever organised, his singing of the Glory Song gaining him a universal reputation. In 1904 he married Miss Helen Cadbury, a member of the Quaker family of cocoa manufacturers and proprietors of the Daily News, with whom he made another world tour. Dr. Alexander, who was the composer of a number of hymns, also conducted missions to the Far East in co-operation with Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, of New York.

GERMAN REPARATIONS.

SUCCESSFUL ANGLO-BELGIAN NEGOTIATIONS.

Brussels, October 13.
According to the Libre Belgique, the discussions in London between Mr. Lloyd George and the Belgian Premier, M. Delacroix, regarding German reparations, were successfully concluded. The Geneva Conference will not be held, while the Reparations Commission, after hearing the Germans' explanation of their proposal, will report to the various Governments instead of arriving at a decision by itself. A further conference will be shortly held in

REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.

THE RUSSIAN SITUATION.

IS THE BOLSHEVIK REGIME COLLAPSING?

London, October 13.
Sensational rumours have been current during the past few days regarding anti-Bolshevik outbreaks throughout Russia. As, however, no confirmation has been received from official sources, it is deemed prudent to regard them somewhat sceptically at present, especially in view of the previous stories of the impending collapse of the Bolsheviki regime. Nevertheless, it seems beyond doubt that the Soviet is encountering trouble in Siberia, for, according to a Helsingfors message, the Bolsheviki paper Pravda admits that over a thousand persons have been arrested in various towns of Siberia for complicity in a plot to blow up railways and bridges, kill Communist leaders, and to organise peasant revolts. The leaders of the conspiracy are declared to be ex-officers of Kolchak's and Semenov's armies.

FIRE ON GERMAN LINER.

15,000-TONNER IN FLAMES.

Berlin, October 13.
A message from Hamburg states that a big fire broke out at midnight on the 15,000-ton Hamburg-American liner Viktoria Louise, in the Vulkan Yards. Four fire engines have been summoned.

ITALIAN SOCIALISTS.

OBJECTION TO ANARCHISTS AND SYNDICALISTS.

Rome, October 13.
The Congress of the Italian Socialist Party at Reggio passed a resolution in favour of admission to the Moscow International, at the same time demanding the exclusion from the Party of the Anarchist and Syndicalist groups.

JUDGES' SALARIES

Shanghai, October 14.
Fenang Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution urging an increase in Judges' salaries.

SINGAPORE £1,000,000 GIFT

Singapore, October 14.
The Government stated there is no obligation to continue the £1,000,000 gift to the Home Government after 1921.

RUBBER MARKET.

Singapore, October 14.
Rubber at the auctions was steadier. There was a 3 1/4 cents advance.

TO-DAY'S CHINESE TELEGRAMS.

Peking, October 14.
The President is in good health. It was the doubtful movement of Chang Jik-lin's troops that caused the people to believe the recent rumours so readily. At present the capital and outskirts are quite tranquil.
The Government has granted $10,000 towards Li Shun's funeral expenses.

Shanghai, October 14.
The conditions for the reunion of the squadron in Canton with the North have been definitely arranged. A new post named the Coast Defence Commissioner will soon be created.
The proposal made by the communities in Shanghai to appoint Lu Yung-chung, the Defence Commissioner, as Li Shun's successor has been strongly protested against by Chang Jik-lin and Tao Kwan.

ABSENT DEFENDANT.

AWAY ON A VOYAGE.

Recently judgment was delivered at the Summary Court for a thousand dollars against the comrade of the Yunnan Maru. That sum had not been paid, and to this circumstance Mr. E. L. Agassiz attributed the non-appearance of the comrade when, at the Police Court this morning, a summons was heard by Mr. Dyer Ball against the man for not affixing a stamp of sufficient value to a promissory note. Mr. Agassiz stated that it was his belief that the comrade was in hiding, hence the recourse of putting up his nephew as answer for his sins before the Court. The nephew told the Magistrate that his uncle was away in the steamer, which sailed from this port on the 2nd instant for Saigon. "And will return to Hongkong?" queried his Worship. "No, it will proceed to Bangkok." "Then it will return to Hongkong?" anxiously enquired, Mr. Ball. "No it will go from Bangkok to Singapore," replied the deputy-defendant. The Court was much relieved to hear from him later that possibly the steamer will return to Hongkong after its call at Singapore. This led to Mr. Agassiz asking his Worship to remand the case sine die until the return of the Yunnan Maru, which a writ will be served on the comrade on board the steamer for his sins before

NEW FLATS FOR KOWLOON.

A LOAN FROM THE GOVERNMENT.

Among those who have recently received building loans from the local Government is Mr. H.M.H. Nemaze, the shipping merchant. The sum advanced to him is $150,000 in respect of his property in Kimberley Road, Kowloon. The area is 25,000 square feet, and the rate at which the money has been advanced is five per cent. The loan was granted a month ago.
There are at present standing on the area two bungalows, the tenants of which have been given notice to quit. Work on pulling these down will commence very shortly, and in their place there will go up six houses of three flats each. Each flat will be four-roomed, and will be fairly large at that. Four-roomed flats, it may be mentioned, are not very common in Kowloon.

The present site was purchased by Mr. Nemaze some thirty years ago for a few cents a foot, but to-day it would fetch $3.50 a foot. The cost of the new houses is estimated at $155,000, and they will take a year before being ready for occupation.
In the ordinary way, the local Government might have advanced some three lakhs to Mr. Nemaze, on the basis of two-thirds of the value of the land, but less has been granted, we are told, as the Government wishes to give other individuals money for building in Kowloon.

AFTER 19 MONTHS.

THIEVING HOUSEBOY ARRESTED.

The story of the capture of a house-boy who nineteen months ago succeeded in removing, during the absence of his master from the house, crockery ware, clothing, etc., and managed to evade Police arrest at the time, was told us today.

The "boy" was in the employ of Mr. C. J. Thompson, of the Harbour Office. It was in March, 1919, at 2, Morton Terrace when Mr. Thompson, after leaving his house in the morning, returned home at 2 p.m. and discovered that his boy had cleared off with a quantity of clothing and various other articles, the whole being valued at over four hundred dollars. Before going, the boy, it appears, smashed a lot of crockery ware, and helped himself to refreshments, alcoholic and otherwise. Although the matter was reported to the Police, the boy was not apprehended.
Yesterday Mr. Thompson received secret information that the boy was working at the Peak signal station as a coolie, whereupon he, with detectives, went there last night at nine o'clock, and succeeded in arresting the delinquent.

When taken to the Police Station, the boy is said to have admitted stealing the things.

NEW WATERBOAT.

LAUNCHED AT KOWLOON YESTERDAY.

Yesterday there was launched at the Kowloon Docks another addition to the fleet of the Union Waterboat Company, whose managing agents are Messrs. Dodwell and Co. Her name is the Tai Ng, which brings the strength of the Union Waterboat fleet up to nine.

The christening ceremony was performed by Mrs. J. Johnstone, wife of the superintendent of the Union Waterboat Company, Limited, and there were also present Messrs. G. M. Dodwell, J. Johnstone, the superintendent, and C. Gerken, the Secretary.
Mrs. Johnstone was presented with a gold bangle in commemoration of the launching, and afterwards the health of the Waterboat Company was drunk.
There is another new boat on the stocks, which would have been completed by now had the materials arrived in time.

SHOP SITE CASE.

JUDGMENT FOR THE DEFENDANTS.

In the case in which the Kwong Sang firm of curio dealers, of the old Post Office building, sued Messrs. Nikko and Co., of the Hongkong Hotel, for $1,000 damages for breach of contract to give the plaintiffs the premises at present occupied by Messrs. Brower and Co., His Honour Mr. Justice J. R. Wood this morning delivered the following judgment:

In this case, after considering the evidence, I am not satisfied that there was at any time a contract between the parties. The negotiating persons were a Chinese, who was anxious to acquire the use of new premises for his business, and a Japanese, who was desirous of letting his premises to a suitable applicant on the best terms obtainable. The negotiations were conducted in English, a language with which both men had a slender acquaintance. The important point in the negotiations arrived when the defendants' agent handed to the plaintiff a revised draft of a suggested lease. No doubt on receiving it the plaintiff honestly thought that he was accepting a final offer from the defendants, thereby completing an agreement for a lease, on terms settled by the draft, to be executed later. The Japanese witness who delivered the draft to the plaintiff has stated in evidence that he made it clear at the time that the delivery of the revised draft was not an offer of any kind but was merely an invitation to continue negotiations on the basis of the draft. I accept the good faith of all witnesses called on both sides. The onus of proving that an agreement was made between the parties rests on the plaintiff who claims damages for breach of agreement. This onus, in my opinion, has not been discharged. It seems to me not impossible that the parties misunderstood one another. Judgment will be entered for the defendants with costs.

DOUBLE FATALITY.

P. W. D. COOLIES GASSED.

Two coolies employed by the Public Works Department succumbed to the gas fumes whilst working in a man-hole at Soy Street yesterday. When efforts were made to restore them after their removal from the sewer, it was found that they were past medical aid. Death by asphyxiation was pronounced.

PROSECUTION OF MOTORIST.

EUROPEAN CHARGED.

Before Mr. Dyer Ball, at the Magistracy this afternoon, there came up on remand, the case in which G. H. Wilson, of Messrs. Robertson, Wilson and Company, was charged with driving his motor car, No. 92, in a manner dangerous to pedestrians on the Repulse Bay road, near Aberdeen, at 6.45 p.m. on the 23rd September.

Inspector Garrod, Traffic Officer, prosecuted, the accused being represented by Mr. D. H. Blake, of Messrs. Deacon, Looker, Deacon and Hamon. Sub-Inspector Davis, in charge of Aberdeen Station, deposed that on the day in question he was on duty on the road from Aberdeen to Repulse Bay when he saw the car being driven in a very fast manner towards the village from Repulse Bay. The speed was between 40 and 50 miles an hour. Witness held up his hand as a signal to the defendant to stop. The momentum of the car was such that a good many yards had been traversed before the car responded to the clutch and came to a standstill. The defendant asked the witness:—"What's the matter?" and witness replied:—"You are driving altogether too fast." "What if I am?" rejoined the defendant. "There is no speed limit here." The hearing was proceeding as we went to press.

DAY BY DAY.

The Chinese charged the other day with soliciting for immoral purposes was brought up before Mr. G. H. Orms this morning, when he produced the woman who had engaged him. The woman, Mary Howard, a Chilian, was bound over in a sum of $100 for twelve months, while the Chinese was discharged. It was stated in evidence that the woman engaged the Chinese to question two naval men, at whose instance he was arrested. Mention was made that the woman would be deported by the Police from the Colony.

£8,000 ROBBERY ON BOAT

TRAIN.

A passenger from London,

whose name is stated to be Each-mind, was robbed in the Calais express of a handbag containing a sum of money and an assortment of jewellery. He was incautious enough to leave it on the seat in this compartment while he was dining in the restaurant car. On his return the bag was gone. The value of its contents is said to be £20,000 francs (about £3,000 at normal rate of exchange). Robberies of this kind are very frequent on the boat trains during the holiday season, and the French police are issuing a fresh warning to passengers to keep a sharp eye on their belongings.

THE CHINA CONSORTIUM.

London, Oct. 12.

The "Times" New York correspondent says that meetings with regard to the China Consortium will be held during the week beginning 11th October, expect on Tuesday. The British group is headed by Sir Charles Addis, the American by Mr. Thomas W. Lamont, the French by M. René de la Chaume and the Japanese by Mr. Takeuchi. Sixteen principal delegates represent four nations, while Frederick W. Stevens, the resident representative of the American group at Peking will also attend. The agenda involves wide discussion of China's general requirements, currency reform, development of railway transportation with the possible extension of the Hukwang project and a degree of supervision by Consortium representatives of the expenditure of the proceeds from the loans have been granted, including the disbanding of the standing armies, the granting of part of the loan proceeds to South China, etc. The requirements include that the surplus of the Salt Cabelle, Customs duties and other income be pledged as guarantee for the repayment of the loans. The Consortium will consider applications for membership from banking groups of other nationalities.

NIGHT RIDERS TERRIFY COTTON STATES.

London, Oct. 12.

A New York telegram states that night riders are spreading terror through the cotton states. They are men, mostly farmers, who have been bitterly disappointed in the expectation of the present cotton crop and are determined that no cotton will be ginned until price advances forty cents a pound. Picked companies sally out at night posting threatening notices at the ginners and fields and also leaving boxes of matches where they are sure to be seen by the owners, this being eloquent of the irate farmers' intentions than any other form of threat. The negroes are terrified, believing that it is a revival of the notorious Ku Klux Klan, so it is almost impossible to get black labour to continue in the cottonfields.

CANTON AFFAIRS.

BUYING OFF MU.

The crisis at Canton remains unsettled, and the exodus to Hongkong continues. Canton Times says that agents of the Kwangsi leaders in Peking are working hard to obtain the support of Chang Tso-lin and Tsoo Kun, the two leading Northern warlords. Certain circles regard Peking's help as so sure that opponents to the Cantonese forces are already selecting candidates for the principal offices in the Canton Government, including

Lung Chen-chang for the civil governorship. The Kwangsi forces in Nanning and Waichow are fighting their way to Canton. General

Chen Chung-ming is reinforcing Bocoo Tigns Forts. Plans are being made to meet the returning

Kwangsi troops from Waichow

by first taking Shaking in order to cut communications between

Canton and the Kwangsi Army

Headquarters in the East River districts. General Li Fooklung and others are watching the North and the West River points to prevent further arrival of Kwangsi troops at Canton.

No serious fighting is expected in Canton, as Mu Yung-hsien will not order fire as long as he and his men are able to hold out pending reinforcement; and if reinforcement fails to come soon, he will move out upon receipt of some funds from the Cantonese. To those who know the inside dealings, the movement of Mu Yung-hsien will not depend on local negotiations but on the events to take place or now going on in Peking and other quarters.

Two aeroplanes for Mu Yunghsien are now being detained at Hongkong, according to a vernacular press report. These aeroplanes have been borrowed from

General Chang Tso-lin and arrived at Hongkong by Kwang Sang,

October 6.

Mu Yung-hsien has asked the members of the Canton Gambling

Syndicate for a loan of $150,000,

but they have not complied.

Overseas Cantonese are wiring to Peking suggesting the abolition of the military governorship system,

beginning with Kwangtung.

mander Chan Ke Yau of the Can-ling by members of the National Salvation Army while they were on their way back to Canton from Waichow on October 11.

Commander Liu of the gunboat

Yung Keng was killed on October

6 by his crew who afterward declared independence from the administration of Mu Yung-hsien.

Commander Sun Pao-lao and five other Cantonese commanders of the administrative force have communicated with General Li

Fooklung and Ngai Hong-ping, protecting independence from the administration of Commander Kwo, a Cantonese, and several members of his crew of the gunboat, Kwong On, because they refused to comply with his command to declare independence from the administration of Mu

Yung-hsien.

In order to maintain the money market, Rear Admiral Tang Ting-

Kwang the new Military Governor of Kwangtung, has ordered the

Canton Mint not to export Cantonese subsidiary coins to outports, particularly Waichow and other

Kwangsi cities.

Mr. Frank Lee has been appointed

Commissioner for Foreign Affairs

by the new Tsuchin and has assumed office in Hoonan yesterday, October

11.

Rear Admiral Tang Ting-Kwang

has telegraphed Generals Chen

Chung-ming, Li Fooklung, Ngai

Hong-ping and Commander Chan

Tak Chun advising them to stop fighting with the Kwangsi forces in order to restore peace on terms which are being negotiated with

Mu Yung-hsien.

THE MONEY RAISED.

The Citizens Peace Committee

has again communicated with Mu

Yung-hsien urging him to instruct his Kwangsi troops to stop fighting in the East River districts. It was also stated that $2,000,000 have already been raised to be ready to pay him off through Rear Admiral

Tang Ting-Kwang, the new Tsuchin,

if he will move his Kwangsi troops back to their native province.

The Citizens Peace Association

has also communicated with Admiral Lin Pao-yi, the leading mediator, asking him to stop Mu Yung-hsien building so many fortifications in the city, as the amount of $2,000,

000 has already been raised to pay

Mu for removing his Kwangsi troops away.

Another conference was held at

the Citizens Peace Association

afternoon of October 12. It was agreed that the net profits of the Canton Mint will be used to redeem

the loan of $2,000,000 to be contracted in order to pay off Mu

Yung-hsien.

YACHT CLUB.

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING.

The sixteenth annual general meeting of members of the Royal Hongkong Yacht Club was held at the Club house yesterday afternoon. Mr. Frank Smyth (Commodore) presided and with him were the Hon. Mr. A. R. Lowe, Captain T. Arthur, Messrs. R. E. MacDougall, E. W. Carpenter and D. K. Blair. A large number of members attended.

The Chairman said: Gentlemen,—the report of the various Committees and statement of accounts for the year ending August 31st, 1920, have been in your hands for upwards of a week, and I will therefore, with your permission, take them as read. We have had, as you will observe, a very successful season, from every point of view, and I may add that the future also promises well. During the year under review the Club received the addition of 73 new members, and the bathing facilities which the Club had to offer were again enjoyed by a full complement of temporary members. Turning to the account, the various items of expenditure and income are very clearly set out, and mostly explain themselves. I should remark, however, that the item for wages hardly compares so favourably with last year as would appear from the comparative figures given for 1918-19, when the whole expenditure under this head appeared as one item. We have this year been faced with extra expenditure to meet the increased services required of our staff, and have debited the sum of $194.00 to bar account, it being felt that as this department absorbs so much of the attention of the Club's servants it should rightly bear a fair proportion of the expense of the establishment. The assets of the Club have been well maintained, and the comfort of the members has been considerably enhanced by the installation of electric light and fans, the latter being much needed, and highly appreciated by those using the Club house during the summer, and for bathing. The Club house, which remains at $14,700.00 as per last year's accounts, has been kept in a thorough state of repair, and boats and cars, which, with the additions and renewals stand in at $1,600.00, are considered to be well worth this figure. Outstanding subscriptions and cheques appearing as $192.71 have been mostly collected, and no bad debts are looked for under this head. The usual number of debentures have also been redeemed, this item of liability being now reduced to $15,050. The Club's sporting activities have, I am happy to say, been very successful. Entries for the various sailing events were both numerous and keenly contested, and some very close finishes resulted. It is to be regretted that the courses for the Championship events could not be more varied, owing chiefly to the absence of suitable winds, but it is hoped there may be an opportunity of remedying this during the coming season. A suggestion has been sent in by an old sailing member that some, at least, of the Club events might be started at 120 p.m., or even 1 p.m., so that longer courses might be sailed, and this matter will be submitted for the consideration of your new Sailing Committee. I would suggest as an alternative, and in order to give business members more time to make arrangements, that when westerly courses are decided upon the start be made from Murray Pier at, say 2 p.m., finishing as usual at the Club House, at North Point. The rowing men are to be congratulated on their successes during the season, particularly at Canton, and I heartily endorse the hope expressed by their Captain that they may retain the trophies won when the next struggle comes. I cannot, however, help thinking that if they wish to succeed they will have to indulge in more serious training than has been apparent for some time past, and in this connection I should like to see more use made of the practice tubs with a view to discovering new talent. The Club has amongst its members many very keen rowers and aspirants to racing honours, and to encourage tab racing I shall be very pleased to furnish suitable prizes in the discretion of the Rowing Committee for their boats at the next Regatta. (Applause). Further, in the fulfilment of a promise made at the last annual meeting, I shall also be pleased to defray the cost of the three new racing boats and complement of oars which, I understand, are necessary to suitably equip the rowing

SOCIETY.ANNUAL MEETING OF MEMBERS.

The annual meeting of the members of the St. Andrew's Society was held at the City Hall yesterday afternoon, when there were present Messrs. G. M. Young (in the chair), G. M. Shaw, G. Hogg, John Macdonald, R. Reid, T. F. Hough (Committee), R. J. Patterson (honorary secretary), A. M. Duncan Wallace (honorary treasurer), the Hon. Mr. John Johnstone, A. O. Lang, K. E. Greig, J. L. Crockett, G. W. Paton, D. Templeton, A. Stevenson, Dr. G.D.R. Black, L. M. Whyte, F.M. Crawford, J. Ormiston, W. J. Morrison, J. MacMorris, T. G. Morrison, W. D. Fiddle-Wilson, J. H. Kynoch, W. M. Pittendrigh, W. Fleming, G. Stark, W. Budge, W. G. Lawson, D. Gow, D. G. Nicoll, J. E. Hamilton, W. W. Johnston, D. McNeill, J. O. MacLachlan, J. Foulds, J. H. Gordon, W. Weir, J. A. Clark, J. Duncan, J. L. McPherson, J. Rodger, A. Macfarlane, W. Brown, W.G. Gerrard, A. R. Austin, and others.

The Chairman said: The report and accounts having been in your hands, gentlemen, I will take them as read. Turning to the report, it will be noticed that the proceeds of the Heather Day celebration have now been distributed, and there only remains to place on record our gratefulness to Sir Charles Addis for the time and trouble he has spent on our behalf in this connection. Before passing on, however, I must point out that there is a slight error in the amounts stated as given to the two infirmaries, both should read £11,048 17s. 1d. We deeply regret to record the death of two past Presidents, Mr. S. C. Ross 1911-12, a gentleman who gained the respect and affection of all who were acquainted with him, and Mr. A. G. Gordon, 1915-17, whom we all loved. He had the bright outlook on life, which declined to be depressed, and with his cheery manner and rare gift of story telling, drove many a dull moment from the lives of his friends. To their relatives we extend our profound sympathy. The J. R. M. Smith scholarship was won by Miss Agnes McNeill, of the Keweenaw British School, whom we all congratulate. As regards the accounts I think these are quite clear, and call for no further comment, except perhaps that we may congratulate ourselves on the larger increase of subscriptions over last year. There is a further subject which will appeal to all Scotsmen. There are now in Hongkong about four hundred members of the Society, and doubtless numerous other Scotsmen who are not yet members. There is also a Scottish Company of the Hongkong Volunteer Defence Corps, which might well become, and probably will become, the centre of the athletic world here. The necessary Volunteer drills are only ten per annum, in addition to three days' camp, which can be done in two week ends of Saturday afternoon, and all Sunday. Why should not the Scottish Volunteer football teams, golf teams, etc., be the leaders of each branch of sport? They would certainly stand a good chance if more joined the Scottish Company, thereby making it the crack Company and containing the elements able to successfully compete in all branches of sport. For the first time on record there is a good chance of having a Pipe Band as already three skilled pipers are with us, and it is hoped they will be given the chance of piping to a full company. Any further particulars required can be obtained after this meeting from Mr. Gordon.

The adoption of the report and accounts was seconded by Mr. Austin and passed unanimously. The Chairman: As you are aware, Mr. John Macdonald is the Vice-President. He prefers to go home on leave than to stand for election as President this year. In his place I wish to propose Mr. Johnstone as President. On it being seconded by Mr. Macdonald, it was unanimously approved. Hon. Mr. Johnstone:—I greatly appreciate the feelings which have prompted you to ask me to accept the position of President of this Society for the coming year, the more so because I realize that this compliment may be taken as something in the nature of a farewell offering. I thank you, Mr. Young, and you also, Mr. Macdonald, for putting me forward, and my pleasure in accepting the greatest honour you could pay a Scotsman is considerably enhanced by reason of the fact that I have been chosen on the proposal of (if I may say so) our ancient enemy.

SHANGHAI'S OUTLOOK.

A BRIGHT FUTURE.

The Commissioner of Customs at Shanghai, in his report of 1919, says:—If the remarkable record of the commerce of this port in the year under review can be considered prophetic of the future, Shanghai stands upon the threshold of an era of unprecedented expansion and prosperity. The year 1919—the first in the period of reconstruction and readjustment after the tremendous upheaval of the war—was, for Shanghai, a most prosperous one. The gross value of the trade of the port reached the record total of 763 million Hai kwan taels, and, allowing for the fact that present universal price inflation makes value alone an unsafe criterion of trade, this figure represents, with a few exceptions, a volume of commodities equalling or exceeding ante-bellum standards.

The increases of the year were well balanced; foreign, coastwise, and transit trade and shipping all registered distinct gains over the preceding year, as will appear from the more detailed discussion of each in this report and from a study of the appended tables of statistics. The material progress of Shanghai was reflected in the continued prosperity of her large industrial enterprises and the establishment of new ones. Cotton mills produced to their utmost capacity and made handsome profits. The dockyards had all the work they could handle, while the flour mills and minor industries had a uniformly successful year. Several new manufacturing projects, including a new steelworks, a glass factory, a cigarette factory, and an oil mill, were organized during the year. Other evidences of the expansion of Shanghai are seen in the establishment of many new business houses, foreign and Chinese; the widespread building operations; the proposed additions to the public services, particularly to the electricity plant; and the increase of the population.

In fact, the very growth of this port has brought with it many serious problems of congestion. The harbour authorities are hard pressed to find sufficient berthing space for shipping; the regulation of the street traffic is becoming daily more difficult; tramways are overcrowded to an insanitary degree; and the lack of adequate housing accommodation for Chinese and foreigners is almost acute.

SHELL SHOCK.

A COMMITTEE OF INQUIRY. Lord Southborough, who moved in the House of Lords earlier in the year for the appointment of a committee to inquire into the expert knowledge derived from experiences of the late war in regard to shell-shock, has been appointed chairman of the War Office Departmental Committee. By their terms of reference the Committee are appointed to consider the different types of hysteria and traumatic neurosis, commonly called "shell-shock," to collate the expert knowledge derived by the service medical authorities and the medical profession from the experience of the war, with a view to recording for future use the ascertained facts as to its origin, nature, and remedial treatment, and to advise whether, by military training or education some scientific method of guarding against its occurrence cannot be devised.

"Taikoo"—(Laughter and applause).

The Chairman proposed that Mr. A. O. Lang be elected Vice-President.

Dr. Forsyth's name was also proposed.

On a show of hands, Mr. A. O. Lang was elected.

On the proposal of the Chairman, seconded by Mr. Stevenson, the election of Mr. Duncan Wallace as honorary treasurer and Mr. T. Hill as Secretary for the ensuing year was unanimously approved.

The following were elected to serve on the Committee.—Messrs. K. Greig, J. L. Crockett, N. S. Marshall, Dr. Black and G. M. Shaw.

The Chairman: I beg to propose that "Ball, similar to last year's, be held on St. Andrew's Day, Tuesday, the 30th November. This was agreed to.

A vote of thanks to the President, moved by Mr. Johnstone, concluded the meeting.

LONDON'S PLAGUE SPOT.

SLUM WHICH THE QUEEN CALLED "TERRIBLE."

Eighteen months ago the Queen, going on foot through the "by-ways" of London, was so appalled by the housing conditions in the notorious Brady-street area at Bethnal Green that she could only exclaim, "Terrible! Terrible!" If she revisited it to-day she would find little difference in this plague spot, and that for the worse. More grime has collected on the walls, the juvenile population has increased, and the returned ex-service men have added to the congestion in the homes.

The inhabitants still exist in the same inadequate hovels, brightened, mayhap, by a patch of paint outside, but sunless, airless, and squalid. When the sun does steal feebly down the street the people bring out arm-chairs and sit on the pavement, and the children make the narrow alleys their playground.

TEN SLEEPERS IN ONE ROOM. Perhaps the most distressing spot in this neighbourhood may be found in Neath-place, a mere lane leading off Brady-street, which the Queen included in her tour of inspection. With outspread arms one could, in places, span it from wall to wall. Its huddled roofs give a meagre ration of sunshine to the thoroughfare, and what air there is comes in the form of a draught blowing through the dark tunnel at its farther end, and keeping the dust and street litter in constant commotion. One can scarcely walk along the strip of pavement for the many toddling children, to whom it is their nursery.

Calling at No. 2, Neath-place, a Daily News representative found Mrs. Eliza Noon, who, on the occasion of the Queen's visit had the honour of entertaining her in the humble dwelling. Her house consists of two rooms, one upstairs and one down, a narrow-stepped stair curling at a steep pitch connects the floors. If the Queen was shocked to discover that Mrs. Noon and her seven children slept in one room, what would she think now that Mrs. Noon's husband, demobilized from the Army and a new baby, have brought the number of inmates up to ten?

Mrs. Noon said that nothing had been done to improve their conditions since the Queen saw them. Indeed, the house was in a worse state of repair.

PEOPLE WHO ARE CONTENT. But the most appalling discovery The Daily News representative made was that several of the inhabitants in this area were perfectly satisfied with their conditions. "Some of them say they are quite comfortable, and they don't want to go elsewhere," said Mrs. Noon, and her statement was confirmed by one or two of the neighbours. In such an environment contentment seemed a positive crime.

Some time ago a scheme for the reconstruction of the area was proposed by the local authorities, and on July 1 the Ministry of Health instituted an inquiry. The London County Council say they are still awaiting the Ministry's finding, and the Ministry declare that they are awaiting a valuation of the property from the district valuers of the Inland Revenue. And there the matter stands.

"MOST MORAL CASINO."

CLAIM OF A NORMANDY RESORT.

Villers-sur-Mer, the little seaside resort in Normandy five miles from world-famed and luxurious Deauville, possesses a casino which can claim to be the most moral casino in France.

This little casino belongs to the wife of a Paris architect, who having for a year failed to make a living, decided to run the casino. She enlisted the local priest as her assistant in organising fetes there, and musical and theatrical events are given for the benefit of local charities.

Each concert includes sacred music, and though dances are organised several evenings a week, tango, two-steps, fox-trots and other modern dances are forbidden, while ladies are not admitted in low-necked dresses. No alcohol is served at the bars, only temperance drinks being obtainable. Gambling is not forbidden, but 20 francs is the maximum stake at the petite-ohéaux tables, and the maximum at baccarat is 50 francs.

In spite of all these restrictions the managers of the casino say she is making very handsome profits.

HOW TO GROW HOUSES.

MUCH SIMPLER THAN MUNITIONS.

Writing in the Daily News Sir Leo Chiem says—
Fame does not bluish to own the existence of a philosopher who discovered that the problem of poverty can be solved by providing the poor with means instead of weeping over their unnecessary existence. The time is ripe for a similar discovery concerning what we are pleased to term the Housing Problem. It is in the housing problem can be solved—by building houses.

If this had dawned upon our legislators, say, at the beginning of the twentieth century, we should have been spared several Housing Bills, and the building industry would be much larger than it is.

Suppose that when war came we had passed into law Acts of Parliament concerning the size and quality of munitions, if and when made, and then had left it to private or municipal enterprise to make munitions or not, as it pleased them, within the conditions laid down. The result would have been a scanty supply of munitions, or no munitions at all. That is precisely what we have done with housing all along. The central and local authorities between them have devised conditions and regulations concerning housing, and waited for the houses to appear. The result was shown in the Census of Production of 1907, which proved that in a year of good trade the value of all new domestic dwelling-houses of all classes erected was not more than £20,000,000, if as much. If in 1907 the nation had erected 200,000 houses at £400 each, now building of this kind alone would have amounted to £80,000,000, by which we can gather how inadequate was the building actually done.

NOT TO BE DENIED.
When we wanted munitions of war we made them. If there were not factories enough to produce the munitions we built the factories. If there were not machine tools enough to fit up the factories, we made the machine tools. If we had not enough machine tool works, we either constructed more or imported machines. If there was not material to feed into the machines, we bought the material. If there was not enough labour to work the machines, we trained new labour. We considered it an urgent case in which "No" could not be taken for an answer.

The Ministry of Munitions did not begin work until the middle of 1915 and the war ended about three years later. In two years the Ministry of Munitions worked miracles in organising the munitions making.

Now turn to housing. The date of Armistice was Nov. 11, 1918. It is now the beginning of August, 1920, and two years of peace will soon have elapsed. Where are the houses? They have not arrived like the munitions because we have not insisted upon making them. When it was a case of shells and guns we laughed at difficulties, although the difficulties were real. Now that it is a case of housing we pretend that there are difficulties, although the building of a cottage is child's play as compared with the building of a tank or aeroplane.

A REAL HOUSING MINISTRY.
Have we a Ministry of Housing in the sense that we had a Ministry of Munitions? We have not. We have, however, a very useful Department known as the Office of Works, which did actually in the war, at Well Hall and elsewhere, build houses for munition workers, and which did it in first-class style, whether from the financial or artistic point of view.

And we may take note of the fact that the Office of Works is now actually building houses for Camberwell, and for Shore-ditch, and for Bedford. But only because those places are responsible for the finance of the scheme. The Office of Works is acting as building contractor and architect, and in these instances is doing splendid work. But its operations, be it observed, are limited by the financial powers of

CHILDREN WHO ARE GIVEN AWAY.

PARENTS' RIGHTS OVER ADOPTED OFFSPRING.

In view of the increasing number of people who adopt children, the question is asked whether the state of the law regarding the right of parents to reclaim their offspring is as well known as it ought to be. There was an illustration at the Willesden Police Court recently when a man told the magistrate that he had adopted a boy seven years ago, and now the mother was attempting to kidnap the boy. The magistrate decided that the mother had a right to the child.

The mother, who appeared in court, said that seven years ago she believed she was dying, and in response to an advertisement that a wealthy lady was willing to adopt a boy she sent her child to a given address. She did so because she believed she had only a few days to live. Since getting better she had attempted to trace the boy, and recently she found him living in one dirty room with a man.

In deciding that the mother was entitled to the custody of her child the magistrate appears to have acted in conformity with previous decisions. "A authority who has had considerable experience of cases where parents after surrendering their children claimed them again explained to a Daily News representative yesterday that if the child was under 14 a magistrate would certainly grant custody to the parents. "Even where the foster-parents are respectable and the father or mother thoroughly bad, this is generally done. Where the child is over 14, and the circumstances and characters of the adopted and the real parents are equal, the Court usually consults the wishes of the child.

"In many ways," said this authority, "the law regarding adoption is notoriously weak, and there is talk of legislation to strengthen it. It is suggested that the law might be amended so that parents, having once signed an agreement, should have no further rights over adopted children, and also that a child should be entitled to inherit the property of a foster-parent who has died without a will."

The Local Authority. There is no national housing fund, as there was a national munitions fund in the war.

THE GOLDEN KEY.

Here we come to the essence of the matter. The Government in war knew that munitions were important enough to finance nationally. The Government in peace does not consider housing important enough for similar treatment. The municipalities are going round with the hat, and spending enormous sums in advertising. The cost of a row of houses is being thrown away every day in gaudy posters and newspaper advertisements and clerks' wages.

In the four years of the war we lost 600,000 men. In the same four years more than 600,000 persons in this country died premature deaths through town-bred diseases, the direct result of bad housing. The war casualties have largely ceased, but the casualties of peace are in full swing—"business as usual." And not only lives are being thrown away, but the happiness of millions is destroyed, and conditions are truly pitiable. No German, living or dead, ever inflicted upon us one ten-thousandth part of the misery that is being endured at this moment through bad housing.

There is no "housing problem." There is only a rooted disinclination to build houses on a national scale, as we made munitions on a national scale. At present the problem is being played with, for the houses in sight are not enough to house the additional population which has accumulated since housing ceased, and before then there were serious arrears. Also, a large proportion of our existing houses are death-traps for the inhabitants. The need to pull down a dirty house and build a beautiful clean one in its place is not a problem, but a duty.

SHANGHAI SHIPPING.

FALL IN COAST RATES.

The Customs trade report regarding Shanghai for the year 1919 states:—

The total tonnage of vessels entering and clearing at Shanghai during the year—18,500,000 tons—was an increase of 32 per cent. over the figure for 1918, which, however, was the lowest in 15 years.

More significant than this comparison is the fact that the year's tonnage represents a return to ante-bellum standards, being equal to the average annual total of the six years immediately preceding the war.

This rapid recuperation is particularly gratifying in view of the fact that it has occurred without the assistance of tonnage under the German and Austrian flags, which constituted about 10 per cent. of the pre-war total.

The outstanding features of the year were the return of the British flag to its historic leading position in the shipping of the port (after one year of Japanese predominance) and the remarkable increase in American tonnage, which more than doubled its 1918 figure.

Both were the direct result of Government action: the British authorities released a large number of vessels from war service, while the United States Shipping Board allotted a goodly share of Government-owned tonnage to the China line. The tonnage under all flags except the Dutch registered an increase over 1918. As regards tonnage of vessels entering from and clearing for foreign ports, the Japanese flag led the British by a slight margin, with the American in third place—the three together aggregating 83 per cent. of the total foreign carrying trade. 40 per cent. of the tonnage engaged in the carrying trade between the treaty ports and Shanghai was British, 35 per cent. Chinese, and 25 per cent. Japanese.

The year opened, with the supply of homeward tonnage, both European and American, far exceeding the demand. The rate to American Pacific ports was accordingly reduced to Gold $30 per ton in January, $20 in February, and $15 in April. The rate to New York via Suez or Panama dropped from $50. to $50., while the London Conference rate followed suit with a reduction from 150s. to 120s. and later to 100s. per ton. Owing to the lifeless state of the home markets and the high exchange, cargo continued scarce until April, when a fair demand for space to the Continent, especially to Genoa, Marseilles and Rotterdam, sprang up. From May to November, owing chiefly to large shipments of foodstuffs to Europe, the situation underwent a radical change. Demand for space far exceeded the supply: during the peak of the rush steamers on European berths were charging premiums over Conference rates. December saw a sudden let-up in the demand, and the year closed as it had begun—with a surplusage of tonnage. The demand for tonnage for the United States reached its height in October, when rates were increased Gold $2.50 a ton. The soaring exchange of the latter part of the year served to check exports so effectively, however, that at the end of the year ships found it difficult to fill their holds.

Coastwise rates, while free from abnormal fluctuations during the year, were at considerably lower level than during 1918. For example, the rate from Chinwangtao to Shanghai stood at about $3.50 per ton, as against $9 in 1918. The supply of coastwise tonnage was quite able to cope with the demand and resulted in a return to almost normal rates.

This situation, while gratifying to shippers, could hardly please owners, who were compelled to watch freight receipts dwindle while the costs of operation remained at the high levels to which they had been driven under the stimulus of war conditions.

The various shipbuilding yards were consistently busy during the year, not only with new construction, but with repairs and refittings, which increased pari passu with the great rise of tonnage making use of the port. Much more shipbuilding could have been undertaken had it not been for the severe handicaps under which the industry functioned: the high exchange, the inordinate delays in obtaining supplies from abroad, combined with the scarcity and dearth of both skilled and unskilled labour, had the effect of raising the gold cost per ton of vessels built here to a figure comparing unfavourably with the cost of similar vessels built in Great Britain.

Whether or not Shanghai is destined to become an important shipbuilding centre will only become apparent after the present shortage in the world's tonnage has been filled and the industry returns to a normal competitive basis.

HONGKONG, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1920.

CIVIL AVIATION.

Hongkong is by no means disinterested in the subject of civil aviation and the members of the Hongkong Aero Club the cable that came through yesterday must have been encouraging. The Conference that is now being held at the Guildhall for the purpose of reviewing the progress of civil aviation will surely find that although aviation has made really tremendous strides of late the application of travel by the air for commercial purposes has not been altogether encouraging. We notice that in some of the latest Home journals to hand there has been a deal of pessimism expressed about the future of civil aviation—a pessimism that we hope will be falsified.

For a time after the armistice there certainly was an increase in civil flying, both for business and pleasure purposes. At the seaside resorts mild thrills in the air became popular, though rather expensive; a number of firms tried aeroplanes for transport purposes, and a few people used them for moving quickly about. Popular interest was stimulated, but soon waned, and there is no doubt that to-day public concern in the aeroplane's possibilities can hardly be said to exist. Civil aviation has run into a time of slump. Messrs A. V. Roe, for example, the well-known Home firm, who took a prominent part a year ago in arranging civil flights, are now doing nothing in the matter. They are not carrying out a passenger service. Last year's services were unprofitable. The Government are being accused of doing little or nothing to forward aviation. They have certainly—to stimulate the evolution of a good commercial aeroplane—carried out tests, and provided $24,000 prize money. But the firms in numbers are not in existence to compete. There has not been a huge entry of machines, for the reason that the firms who once manufactured aircraft are now turning out other goods. Sufficient proof of the distrust with which the Government were viewed by aeronautical firms was afforded recently by the resignation of Mr. Holt Thomas. The promises given by the State have come to nothing. They are allowing civil aviation to die, the while France, Germany, and America are not only making success of the science, but making it pay. It is time that something was done to dispel the "easy" methods which are being dealt out from the Air Ministry and Government offices. The Paris-London air mail completed its first year of working a few weeks ago. When the mail started it ran one machine a day each way between Paris and Hounslow, and the firm which owned the line, the Aircraft Manufacturing Co., Ltd., was full of generals, colonels, and other high officials of the Ministry, who drew nice salaries. Now the highest rank one can find in the air line is that of a captain.

The handicap against commercial aviation is its costliness. When that has been overcome—if it ever will be—there is no reason why it should not flourish, provided that the two watchwords by Major General Sykes are applied: "Safety" and "Reliability." The contention that the onus of linking up the Empire did not rest on Britain alone is surely a reasonable one and the Dominions and the Colonies will probably contribute their share towards building up a completed system. Here in Hongkong we have witnessed flights by a local aviator and also know that he has successfully piloted his machine on such long trips as Macao to Shanghai and Hongkong to Haiphong. But whether there will be official support forthcoming to enable him to inaugurate a commercial or mail service between any of the ports of China has so far not been indicated. Although rapidity of communication and travel is of great value these days there is a limit to its price, and the price that would have to be paid at present is not sufficiently low to be an inducement. Mr. Winston Churchill has indicated that although the Home Government is prepared to help civil aviation by every means in its power, civil aviation must, in the main, fly by itself. The function of the Government, he says, is to facilitate and stimulate aviation, rather than to subsidize it. That is doubtless a good attitude to adopt, but it leaves those who are actively engaged in the task of developing aviation in the position of pioneers who are spending large sums of money and getting little return. Civil aviation has to be made a business proposition before it can hope for a much greater degree of success than it has already achieved. To those who are carrying on the work of development, the future will certainly owe indebtedness, and it seems to us a pity that the present cannot be of more official assistance to them.

NOTES & COMMENTS.

THEN AND NOW.

The other day we happened across an advertisement which appeared in a Hongkong paper in the year 1886, regarding a house, No. 2, Arbuthnot Street, which was to let. And the terms of it struck us as being in such sharp contrast to similar types of advertisements appearing nowadays that we think the public may be interested in reading its contents. The rent was given at $20 per month, including taxes, "rent payable from the date of the lease," and thirty cents for stamp. Then it was added: "If wanted Painted and Chumam Washed, the Rent will be $35 per month, including the present taxes and seventy-five cents for stamp, as by the printed form of the lease the rents are payable in advance. If Painted and Chumam Washed the lease must be for Three Years." Doesn't that read strange these days? If No. 2, Arbuthnot Street is still standing, we will wager that it isn't let for anything like the figures quoted. A house for $20 a month! Try to imagine it—why, we've heard of as much as that being asked for the loan of a bathing machine. Those must have been "the good old days" with a vengeance. Nowadays a man's lucky if he can get a roof over his head, even though he is willing to pay ten times that amount. And a lease so as to give him some security of tenure? If he doesn't get his head bitten off for daring to ask for one, he's sure to be informed that his rent will cost him more. The trouble with most of us is that we've arrived in the Colony about thirty years too late. If we'd only taken pains to have been born earlier things would have been so very different!

A NEW D'ANNUNZIO.

A Polish gentleman, or, rather, General, enjoying the name of Zelowski, has taken it upon himself to ignore the peace between his country and Lithuania and to march upon the town of Vilna, which he has apparently seized. It looks as though he intends settling down there and to take charge of the whole of Central Lithuania. His action is a totally unauthorized one and he himself has been disavowed by his own Government, although the Polish people appear to back him up on the ground that the allocation of the city to the Lithuanians violates the principle of self-determination. We are not so very much concerned with the incident, which will probably straighten itself out in time, but it is worth mentioning if only to show the obstacles which stand in the way of a permanent settling up of conditions in Europe. It was bad enough when a small nation like Poland saw fit to disregard the decisions of the Powers which had given her independence. What then shall be said of the endangering of peace by one solitary adventurer who wants to be a law unto himself? So long as we have these Zelowskis and D'Annunzios knocking about, for so long will the final settlement be postponed. It's about time an example were made of "super-patriots" of this type.

THE CANTON WAY.

We mentioned yesterday the Gilbert situation in Canton, where there are two Military Governors functioning, each with his own seal of office. But the comedy does not end there. The Kwangsi Tsuchun, whom the Cantonese want to see shifted from the Province, asks a little sum of two million dollars before he shakes the dust of Canton from his feet. All manner of methods have been suggested for the raising of this sum, one suggestion being that a special tax should be levied on householders, equivalent to a month's rent. Another scheme was to utilise the profits of the Mint for the purpose, whilst big endeavours have been made to raise the money amongst the commercial community in Hongkong. But the funniest thing of all is that on Tuesday last a tea party was held to discuss the subject, this being attended by the Cantonese Tsuchun himself and also by representatives of the Kwangsi Tsuchun whom the Canton people wish to buy out! It was eventually resolved that the sum named be raised by means of a loan, and it is stated that the money has now been secured. But what a state of affairs! And even when the money is paid over it isn't certain that the Kwangsi man will clear out with his troops. Anyhow, money does most of the talking in Canton nowadays. That's obvious.

DAY BY DAY.

THE ALCHEMY OF LIFE CONSISTS IN EXTRACTING GOOD FROM THE ENVELOPING EVIL ABOUT US.—Joubert.

One fatal case of cerebro-spinal fever was notified yesterday, the victim being a Chinese.

The dead body of a man found on the hillside yesterday was removed to the Mortuary.

The total output of the Kailan Mining Administration's mines for the week ending 2nd October, amounted to 71,029 tons and the sales during the period, to 80,993 tons.

The body of the Chinese who was reported yesterday as having been drowned by accident at Aberdeen has been recovered by the Police and removed to the Public Mortuary.

From Messrs. Lane, Crawford and Co., we have received a copy of their new sports and games catalogue, the contents of which show the large variety of gear which this well-known house stocks.

Another motor-car accident has been reported. At the Praya East yesterday, Motor Car No. 385 knocked down a Chinese coolie inflicting injuries which necessitated the man's removal to Hospital.

It is stated in the Shanghai vernacular papers which arrived here this morning, that the rumour in regard to the Monarchist coup in Peking was invented by money speculators in order to cause a sudden panic in the market.

The attention of motorists is drawn to the announcement, which is to be found in another column, of a procession which will leave the Catholic Cathedral on Sunday afternoon at 4.30 p.m. and proceed along Causeway Road, Peel Street, Mosque Street, Robinson Road and Albany Road. The procession will be on Causeway Road between 4.30 and 5 p.m. and on Robinson Road between 5 p.m. and 5.30 p.m.

A very successful whist drive was held at the Catholic Men's Club last evening. The attendance was a record one, there being 41 tables. The Committee's arrangements for the comfort of the guests, were, as usual, excellent. Mr. Spetigue acted as M.C. The following were the winners: Ladies—1. Mrs. Holdman, 176; 2. Mrs. Bigg, 176; 3. Mrs. Vosper, 170; 4. Mrs. Prickett, 131. Gentlemen—1. Mr. Cooke, 176; 2. Mr. Hughes, 176; 3. Mr. Ryall, 174; 4. Mr. Read, 173. Longest at one table—Mr. Kirk. Champion Booby—Mr. Ramley.

A Revenue Officer brought up a Chinese before Mr. Dyer Ball this morning and charged him with being in possession of 3,000 cigarettes on which duty had not been paid. On being questioned if that was the correct number, the Chinese said he was not sure. A little lesson on multiplication was then given him by the Magistrate who stated that there were six tens, each containing 500 cigarettes. Six multiplied by 500 equals 3,000 cigarettes which established beyond a doubt the contention of the Revenue Department. An order for their confiscation was made by the Magistrate, who then imposed a fine of $15 on the defendant.

Because he was brought back to Hongkong against his will, a Chinese waxed indignant over the charge which was brought against him of returning from banishment. He told Mr. Dyer Ball that it was due to no inclination of his that he had returned to the Colony. Whilst the Wing On was alongside the wharf at Canton he was caught stealing a pair of trousers from a passenger and, in spite of his entreaties to be delivered over to the Canton Police, was forcibly detained on the steamer and brought back to Hongkong. Mr. Dyer Ball said that under the circumstances the charge was not valid. The prosecuting Officer said that the prisoner's story appeared to be true. He was handed over to his custody on the steamer's arrival here. A remand was given to enable the prisoner to secure a witness from the steamer who would substantiate his story.

KOWLOON NOTES.

(BY THE "FERRYMAN.")

The lawn bowls single championship has not come Kowloon's way after all. Muir being beaten by McLachlan of Talkoo after he had got away with a good start and looked like winning. Still, we can't begrudge Talkoo's first championship win, for the bowlers from Quarry Bay, by their general high standard of play, are worthy of a place amongst the mighty. Anyhow, out of the six champions since the competition was started, Kowloon claims three.

There is considerable speculation as to whether Kowloon will be represented in the Colony's interport cricket team. Several men from this side of the harbour have been given a trial, and it is felt in some quarters that Kowloon should have at least two or three men in the selected eleven, in which connection the names of Gray, Middlemass, and de Rome are freely mentioned, whilst the claims of Stalker and Macaskill cannot be overlooked. The trouble is that there is plenty of talent about, and there are only eleven places to fill.

Then in the interport tennis team Kowloon has hopes. Two men whom I have heard mentioned as "probables" are Major Greenaway and young Yvanovich, both of whom are quite good at doubles. But with the claims of other experts at the game to be taken into consideration (especially the Lo brothers, for Ng Sze-kwong and Wei Wing-lok are sure of places) it is doubtful if they should be included. I hear the Shanghai team will be a very cosmopolitan one, including a Portuguese, a Dutchman and a Japanese.

Last Saturday's Gymkhana drew quite a large crowd of Kowloon people to Happy Valley, and I hear that some of them had luck with the sweeps. Those who backed for a place the third man in the Nomination Race had the nice little "divi" of $322, whilst the other places also paid quite well. There were eleven starters in this event, and if anyone had backed the whole lot for $380 for the $55 spent. It's easy to tumble to these things after the event, isn't it?

We read in the Bible of "the plague of flies." Well, Kowloon has had such a plague during the past few nights—nasty little green creatures, with spotted backs, which have a habit of running sideways. A naturalist tells me that these little pests make their appearance in the autumn and spring. So we can still ask the old, old, query: Where do the flies go in the winter time? We know where they go in the autumn, anyhow—mostly into our soup and down our backs!

Still, flies or no flies, it's good to feel the nice, nippy atmosphere we're getting nowadays. The only unfortunate thing is that the drop in the temperature coincided with a drop in the dollar, which, however, has since recovered a little. Kowloon's need: A Low Temperature and a High Dollar!

The Police control of ricksha traffic outside the Kowloon Ferry Pier of late has gone from bad to worse. For two evenings at any rate there was not a solitary policeman on duty there, and pandemonium reigned supreme. I've heard some rumours about this which I'm not at the moment at liberty to repeat, but I can say that Kowloon people have been saying some hard things against the authorities because of the recent lack of control.

I was glad to see the Telegraph comments about the verandahless quarters which have been provided above the new Kowloon Fire Station. But not only are there no verandahs—there's been quite a high parapet erected right in front of the windows, thus keeping out any breeze that may happen to prevail. Why can't the Government be a little more considerate to its subordinate staffs?

TYPHOON WARNING.

The telegram quoted below was received by the American Consulate General, Hongkong, from the Manila Observatory at 10.45 a.m. to-day: Cyclone or typhoon E. of Luzon, less than 300 miles distant, almost stationary.

QUEEN'S COLLEGE.

AQUATIC SPORTS.

The seventh annual aquatic sports of Queen's College were held yesterday in the V.R.C. when some very good racing was witnessed. Douglas Laing again carried off the School Championship and Queen's College were successful in winning the Coronation Shield for the inter-schools team race. In this event a very good tussle was seen in the final between Queen's College, Ellis Kadoorie School, St. Joseph's College, and Kowloon British School.

Lady Stubbs presented the prizes in the gymnasium of the V. R. C. at the conclusion of the programme.

Mr. R. Tanner, Headmaster of the school, welcomed the Governor and Lady Stubbs and said that he hoped it would not be the last time they could be present at a Queen's College ceremony. He said that the swimming was this year up to the usual high standard and thanked the V. R. C. for the use of the pond and Mr. Fletcher and his committee for their hard work in connection with the arrangements.

Sir Edward Stubbs in replying for Lady Stubbs, said he was sorry that they were unable to come in time to see any of the events, but he hoped to be present on a future occasion and also promised to visit the School in the near future. He congratulated the College on again winning the Coronation Shield and Douglas Laing on winning the School Championship and also on his Harbour Swim performance.

A beautiful bouquet was presented to Lady Stubbs by the smallest competitor and cheers for Lady Stubbs, the Headmaster and the school brought the ceremony to a conclusion.

The results were—

25 yards H'cap (Small Boys)—1. Chung Ying Liu; 2. Ho Leung Chik.

50 yards Handicap (Junior School)—1. Leung Sin Man; 2. Charles Cheng.

Graceful Swimming.—1. Tong Wing; 2. Leung Tit Sang; 3. Chan Hui Mei.

Coronation Shield. Inter-School Team Race: Open to all schools in the Colony.—Winner, Queen's College; runners-up, Ellis Kadoorie School; third, St. Joseph's College.

50 yards breaststroke H'cap.—1. Louis Tze Yee; 2. Chan Shun; 3. Wan Kwan Ting.

High Dive (Championship)—1. D. Liang; 2. Charles Cheng; 3. Leung Sin Man.

50 yards H'cap (Senior).—1. Chan Wang Pat; 2. J. Curran; 3. Chan Chi Fat.

Long Plunge (Championship).—1. Douglas Laing; 2. Leung Tit Sang; 3. Louis Tze Yee.

Diving for plates.—1. Chan Kam Chuen; 2. Chan Wan Tat; 3. Pan Shiu Lun.

100 Yards Championship.—1. Douglas Laing; 2. Leung Tit Sang; 3. Chan Hui Mei.

Junior School Team Race.—Winner, Class 5; Runners-up, Class 4B.

Old Boy's Race.—1. F. M. Pereira; 2. G. A. V. Hall.

Senior School Team Race.—Winners, Full 2A; Runners-up, Full 3.

Consolation Race.—1. Chan Kwong Shing; 2. Choi Ping Fan; 3. Sit Shiu Hi.

School Championship 1920 (gold medal presented by Mr. E. Tanner).—Douglas Laing (15 points).

BILLIARDS.

R.G.A. VICTORIA v. R.G.A. KOWLOON.

In an Inter-Mess League match, played in the R. A. Mess, Victoria Barracks, on Wednesday evening, Victoria secured a further two points beating the Kowloon team by 6 games to nil. The players were—

R.G.A. Victoria.—S. Sgt. Gillard, C.S.M. Pragnall, R.S.M. Collins, Mr. Gnr. Thomas, S. Sgt. Davis and C.Q.M.S. Rivers.

R.G.A. Kowloon.—Sgt. Walker, Sgt. Shipley, Mr. Gnr. Bines, B.Q.M.S. Clarke, Sgt. Smith and Sgt. Doggrell.

Play was interrupted on several occasions by the invasion of green flies that deemed the table a fitting resting place. A certain was considered that he has now solved the problem "Where do flies go?"

TO-DAY'S MISCELLANY.

One of the most interesting apartments in the Astor Estate Office on the Thames Embankment, which has been announced as for sale in the bedroom prepared for the late Lord Astor. For many years he invariably used this when he was in London, although he had a private residence in Carlton House-terrace, where he gave occasional banquets. The bedroom has a domed ceiling, and many other beautiful features, but was not large enough for the Francis Premier bed which the then Mr. Waldorf Astor placed therein. An American acquaintance who had been privileged to inspect the wonders of the office afterwards declared that his comrade slept with his feet in the fireplace.

If, as has been stated, the English language is the one most richly endowed with slang, how is it that we so rarely meet with British slang on the film? Inquires a correspondent of a home contemporary. No one has any excuse nowadays for remaining in ignorance of New York "down town" flowers of speech, but one never seems to encounter Cockney gems or genuine Old Bill words of wisdom, though surely they are quite as rich and racy. It is disconcerting for a mere Briton, enjoying an apparently ordinary "drama," to see phrases like "Dis guy" and "Nix on that bloke," attributed to people not markedly American in appearance. Are all English films devoted to scenes of high life in which even the ancient retainers speak with perfect propriety? Personally, I should feel a thrill of patriotic pleasure at the sight of a simple, homely "Not art, or I don't fink," or even a good British "bloke" occasionally instead of the ubiquitous "guy."

Are the London cricketing public keen sportsmen? The question was asked by a northern cricketer after his experience of the big Oval crowd at the Surrey and Yorkshire match. The crowd he thought lacked "the spirit for the country." By way of explanation a home contemporary observes that there are so many counties in Greater London—Middlesex, Surrey, Essex, and Kent—"Where is Middlesex?" asked a Yorkshireman when somebody told him Middlesex would win first honours. "Is it in London?" In Yorkshire, said this Northerner, it is certainly "our team against the world," and only after they have shouted the Yorkshire team home will the crowd do honour to the opponents. This critic acknowledged the impartiality of the Oval crowd. It would recognise outstanding work by any player on the field. The trouble was that it did not recognise the players. Wilson was confused with Hirst when he was bowling. Folk even referred to the score card to find out who was going on when Rhodes took his sweater off. It is difficult to believe that Hirst and Rhodes stand in need of identification marks.

It transpires that the soldier and sailor patients still in the London hospitals total some 8,000. Eight hundred of them are at the great Orthopaedic Hospital, Shepherd's Bush, where there is an elaborate equipment for the treatment of surgical cases, and 400 are at the Roehampton Hospital, which supplies and trains men in the use of artificial limbs. These long-term patients are suffering from shell-shock, from wounds and fractures which will not heal, and from other troubles which require tedious treatment. Those that one sees about the streets—and they are very few nowadays—look as though their long convalescence bored them, but they are happier than the men who cannot walk abroad or the cases still confined to bed. Here and there one hears of people who arrange entertainments in certain wards or outdoor excursions, but generally speaking they feel that the public has forgotten them. They miss the frequent hospital visitors, the gifts of fruit and cigarettes, the numerous entertainments that used to be arranged for them, and the motor rides. It is gratifying to learn that attention has been drawn to the matter by Lady Astor and others, and now an entertainment committee called the Not-Forgotten Association has been formed to arrange for entertainments to be given by private hospitals and for visitors to go to the hospitals.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF THE KOREAN.

JAPAN'S PROBLEM THROUGH WESTERN EYES.

Pre-eminently amongst the cities of the ancient East, Seoul is a city in stone, which the stranger within its gates may read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest.

I know of none, writes Mr. J. O. P. Bland in the Times which teaches more forcibly the old, old lesson of the sins of the fathers, or which suggests such inevitable reflections concerning the mysterious forces that form the character and mould the destinies of nations. The Imperial City at Peking tells its own impressive tale of splendid isolation and departed greatness, but China is still mistress in her own house, and though her present state political be rotten, it does not carry the same conviction of utter helplessness, of dignity pathetic in irretrievable adversity, as that which impresses itself upon one in Korea. There is something in the very sadness and silence of this white-robed race of passive resistors, something in the stoic dignity of their monuments and men, which compels our instinctive sympathy and respect; and yet when all is said and done, the problem of self-determination for Korea remains, humanly speaking, as far removed from solution as the federation of the world and the brotherhood of man.

Chaperoned by the courteous secretary of the South Manchurian Railway (a kindly soul, addicted to scholarly researches in orthodox Buddhism), I saw the sights of modern Seoul and compared it in my mind with the city as I knew it long ago, before Japan had forced China to abandon her suzerainty over the Hermit Kingdom, and again later, before the Russo-Japanese war, when the Korean King assumed the title of Emperor, and, for a breathing space of two years, the country was free to manage its own affairs. I remembered how, in 1898, the people had demonstrated their discontent with their own rules, sitting silent in their thousands before the Palace day and night for 14 days.

TOO PROUD TO FIGHT.

I remembered, too, that when Japan fought, first China and then Russia, for supremacy in the peninsula, the attitude of these dogged conscientious objectors was ever that of unconcerned spectators. Remembering these things, one understands something of the nature of the tragedy of Korea, the pitiful destiny of a people too proud to fight, whose home is the strategic keyland of North-Eastern Asia, and a predestined bone of contention between the Powers that struggle for the mastery of the Pacific. As I stood in the great Audience Hall of the old Palace, untenanted now and open to the winds of heaven, yet splendid in decay and called to mind the history of this people since those far-off days when Korea aspired to lead the East in art and learning, as I looked out upon the triumphs of incongruous modernity with which Japan has decked the hill-girt city (her banks and barracks, her hospitals and huge hotels, dominating, like alien giants, the clustering hovels of the native-born, it seemed to me that this empty Audience Hall fittingly typified the last scene in a drama of inevitable destiny.

They showed me the "Government General Museum," housed in the ancient and venerable precincts of the Palace; also the delectable pleasure and rustic retreat which has been set apart for the use and behoof of Prince Yi, further consoled for the loss of his Throne by a lieutenancy in the Japanese Army and the hand of a beautiful Japanese Princess. I saw the preparations for his Highness's wedding (that ill-omened marriage of which the people speak in whispers)—furniture and embroidery and bowls of silver, being made by native workers under the direction of Japanese craftsmen. They showed me model schools where Korean boys and girls are being taught to look upon Japan as their spiritual home, and many other cogwheels in the ingeniously devised machinery of assimilation.

NATIONAL MOVEMENT.

But in all the highways and byways of the city I saw evidence of the dogged conservatism of the race, and proof of the fact, which the Japanese themselves are beginning to appreciate, that this very policy of assimilation has breathed a new spirit of life into the passive resistance of the Koreans and aroused in them a strong, though still non-combative, ardour of nationalism. They may bow to the presence of the alien invader, they may even admit that his progressive administration has increased the material prosperity of their country, but they firmly decline to admit the superiority of Japan's intellectual and moral culture.

they refuse to be assimilated, and their refusal has assumed the force of a conscious national movement.

Despite its recent trials and tribulations, despite the strong hand of a ruler that respects neither topknots nor tutelary gods, old Seoul still preserves the philosophic dignity which is the birthright of the Land of the Morning Calm. Here, as elsewhere in the East, one may note the disastrous results of putting new wine into old bottles; uncouth new manners, imported from the West, strike the same discordant note in Seoul as they do in Tokyo and Peking. But these things are exotic and transient; they have no roots in the real life of the nation.

The soul of the Korean people, like that of the Chinese stands steadfast in the ancient ways; deep-rooted in its own ancestral beliefs, and contrives withal to preserve a certain stoic kind of geniality. It is a race of husbandmen that has eaten too often of the bread of affliction to allow itself to be provoked to desperation. It is, no doubt, often slothful in business, overprone to politics and plottings, much given to strong drink; but you have only to observe the placidly determined faces of these straight-backed men—especially the elders of the people—and their confident gait, to realize that here still waters run deep. And it is not only on the faces of the men that you discern something of the difficulty of the problem which Japan has to solve in Korea; as a passive resistor, the female of the species is more deadly than the male. I caught a glimpse of this truth, subtle and significant, at a private performance of Korean geisha given by my Japanese hosts.

KOREAN GEISHA.

It was after an informal dinner at the residence of the Civil Governor, Dr. Midzuno, that one of his secretaries (possibly realising that the thread of our political conversation was wearing rather thin) suggested a visit to the Taisho Komba, a high-class geisha entertainment under Japanese management or "control." Never having seen Korean geisha dance, I welcomed the opportunity; and so we left unsolved the problems of militarism in high places, of self-determination and the League of Nations, and speedily found ourselves driving in his Excellency's comfortable motor-car through the silent streets of old Seoul. We alighted at the entrance to a narrow alleyway, running daintily between mud huts, that brought to mind the purlieus of the old Chienmen quarter in the shadow of the city wall at Peking.

There was something furtive, almost sinister, in this approach to a reputed shrine of Korean musical and dramatic culture; not a light shone, not a voice sounded from any of the squalid houses past which we groped our way. We, too, moved silently for the snow lay deep between these close-built walls. Finally, turning the corner of a house which, in the darkness, looked like all the rest, we came to a door over which a flickering lantern hung; here our guide knocked, a bolt was drawn, and we passed from the bitterly cold night into a long narrow room, furnished at one end with charcoal braziers and chairs for the audience, and as to the rest, fitted for the dance with soft clean matting and sliding panels a la Japonaise.

The honours were done by the Japanese manager or impresario of the geisha administration; except the performers and two attendants, no Koreans were present. There were six dancers, girls still in their teens, said to be the fine flower of Seoul geishadom. They wore the elaborate headgear, the quaintly stiff but comely costumes of old Korea—high girdled waists and voluminous, many-coloured skirts—and they danced slow and stately measures, with flawless precision, to the sound of samisen and drum, dances intended to symbolize either the poetry of nature or some episode of legendary romance. Their conventionally painted faces, like those of all Oriental dancers, were as masks, all cast in the same mould of sphinx-like inscrutability, but as women they lacked the little airs and graces, the butterfly daintiness and spontaneous gaiety of the Japanese singing girl. Indeed, as entertainers, they were distinctly heavy, and when, between the dances, they came, as in duty bound, to chat with their guests and drink a cup of sake, they did it perfunctorily and with a courtesy so studied that it became oppressive. Not their bird-like like chatter and light-hearted laughter with which the geisha of Tokyo entertain their guests.

Our friend the secretary ascribed the solemnity of the proceedings to the reticent stolidity which is natural to the Koreans, but to me it seemed—and I saw several incidents and gestures to confirm the impression—that these daughters of the Land of the Morning Calm were not so much on their dignity as on the defensive, and that behind these inscrutable masks there lurks the soul of a race whose patriotism drinks deep at the well of memories and dreams. As we walked back to the most sumptuous hotel in the Far East (a very fine piece of window-dressing) I asked one of our hosts if these women never smiled? "Oh, I think so," he replied, "but not so much with strangers."

It will take some time and tact, methinks, to assimilate a people whose dancing girls decline to smile for the invader.

"MIRACLES" IN IRELAND.

EXTRAORDINARY STORY FROM TIPPERARY.

An incredible story of "most extraordinary miracles" and of "bleeding statues of the Virgin" is telegraphed by a correspondent of the Daily News from Thurles, in Tipperary. But incredible as the story seems, the happenings described have attracted great crowds of Irish people to the town of Templemore, and these people seem to entertain not the slightest doubt that the so-called manifestations are entirely genuine.

The correspondent wires: On Saturday evening at 6 p.m. all the statues and holy pictures in the house of Thomas Dwan, a newsagent in Templemore, began to bleed. The news of the phenomenon rapidly spread, and crowds of awed people came and witnessed the extraordinary manifestation, and many miraculous cures are reported, among them being the case of a crippled soldier and a young girl in the last stage of consumption.

"Persons, high and low, of every religious persuasion, are rushing to the town."

A BOY'S VISIONS.

"I had a conversation with the man Thomas Dwan, in whose house this extraordinary miracle occurred. He claimed that the miracle had been going on in his family and in that of his brother-in-law since July. One Wednesday night he had a premonition that he was to be made the medium of publication of the supernatural event. Next morning he informed his nephew, who was forthwith terribly affected and agitated. The boy at once collapsed and, having recovered, went up-stairs, where he saw visions."

Templemore is in an extraordinary state of excitement, and motor cars and other vehicles are carrying in invalids. The latest cure is Mrs. Delaney, an old woman suffering from sciatica.

"MIRACLE OF LOURDES." The nephew, a youth of 19 named Welch, tells a very remarkable story. He lives at Currabreena, six miles from Templemore. He has been a novice in a Cistercian monastery at Roscrea, where, he says, he had Teething time not only is a trying period to baby but also means much worry to mothers. The little one's gums become swollen and tender; he is cross; does not sleep well; is troubled with constipation, colic or diarrhoea and sometimes even convulsions seize him.

During this period nothing can equal the use of Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy. They regulate the bowels and stomach, and make the teething so easy that the mother scarcely realizes baby is getting his teeth.

My experience has been that Baby's Own Tablets allay the fever caused by teething and give baby healthy sleep. My baby has always been healthy except for the fever and restlessness accompanying teething and an occasional cold, but the Tablets have proved so beneficial in these cases that I would not be without them," writes Mrs. R. S. Long, of Peachland, British Columbia.

These Tablets are equally healthful and harmless to the youngest infant and the child of eight years or more, curing constipation, indigestion, colic, diarrhoea, simple fever and worms. They are to be had from chemists, also post free at 60 cents the vial from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 36 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

premonitions, and later saw an apparition of the Virgin in the form of a nun. The tidings were then delivered to him that the miracle of Lourdes was to be repeated in Ireland, and that he was to be the instrument. The apparition, he says, appeared to him on later occasions.

It was reported that among the other cures are those of Daniel Egan, a harness-maker, after being a cripple for five years; a girl suffering from a twelve-year-old incurable disease, and an invalid man, who had to be carried about in a chair, has now had the use of his limbs restored.
